2-26-2018

Fair Use and Social Media

John Dettinger

Gettysburg College

Follow this and additional works at: http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/librarypubs

Part of the Intellectual Property Law Commons, Internet Law Commons, and the Library and Information Science Commons

Share feedback about the accessibility of this item.

Dettinger, John, "Fair Use and Social Media" (2018). Musselman Library Staff Publications. 87.
http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/librarypubs/87

This is the author's version of the work. This publication appears in Gettysburg College's institutional repository by permission of the copyright owner for personal use, not for redistribution. Cupola permanent link: http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/librarypubs/87
This open access poster is brought to you by The Cupola: Scholarship at Gettysburg College. It has been accepted for inclusion by an authorized administrator of The Cupola. For more information, please contact cupola@gettysburg.edu.
Fair Use and Social Media

Abstract
This poster was created in a collaborative effort by Musselman Library’s Copyright Committee as part of a display for Fair Use Week 2018. The poster was intended to get viewers to think about the 4 factors of fair use in the context of two art projects that used social media photos: Yolocaust by Shahak Shapira and New Portraits by Richard Prince. It was also intended to get viewers thinking about the ways their social media content might get used beyond the original intention.

Keywords
Fair Use, Copyright, Fair Dealing, Yolocaust, New Portraits

Disciplines
Intellectual Property Law | Internet Law | Library and Information Science

Comments
Displayed on the main floor of Musselman Library from February 26th, 2018 to March 2nd, 2018, during Fair Use and Fair Dealing Week 2018.

This poster is available at The Cupola: Scholarship at Gettysburg College: http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/librarpubs/87
Fair Use and Social Media

Yolocaust

In 2017, Shahak Shapira created an online project called Yolocaust that combined social media photos taken at the Berlin Holocaust Memorial with actual Holocaust photos. Shapira’s goal was to criticize the way people were behaving in a commemorative space. The project was non-commercial, but both sets of photos are protected by copyright. Is this Fair Use?

New Portraits

Artist Richard Prince created an exhibition in 2014 called New Portraits by commenting on Instagram photos and then making prints. Instagram users retain copyright of their photos when they use the platform. Prince didn’t ask permission to use most of the photos, and many of his prints sold for up to $90,000. Prince says that commenting on, cropping, and recontextualizing the photos are transformative acts. Is this Fair Use?