Ode to the Eye

Sophia K. Reid '14, Gettysburg College

Follow this and additional works at: http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/student_scholarship

Part of the Poetry Commons

Share feedback about the accessibility of this item.

http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/student_scholarship/224

This is the author's version of the work. This publication appears in Gettysburg College's institutional repository by permission of the copyright owner for personal use, not for redistribution. Cupola permanent link: http://cupola.gettysburg.edu/student_scholarship/224

This open access creative writing is brought to you by The Cupola: Scholarship at Gettysburg College. It has been accepted for inclusion by an authorized administrator of The Cupola. For more information, please contact cupola@gettysburg.edu.
Ode to the Eye

Abstract
"Ode to the Eye" is written in the form of an ode; whereby, it celebrates and praises the 'eye' for its ability to see the beauty of nature and its surroundings.

Keywords creative writing, poetry, ode, eye, nature, sight, sensory

Disciplines
Creative Writing | Poetry
Ode to the Eye

The eye is not a miner, not a diver, not a seeker after buried treasure.

it rests only on beauty, like a butterfly seeks colour and basks in warmth.

- Virginia Woolf

The eye,
bubble of curiosity,
small oysters of our emptiness extracting brightness from darkness, polished
precious pearl, enchanting candlelight of the deep-sea.

Eye, almond shaped—you watch the waning of the amber glow, trace the slope of a mountain,
illuminating the native trees, and control the laws of sunset.

Eye,
you are the gateway to the soul,
fire burns in the heart, like an erupting volcano.
You dilate in darkness, and constrict in light.
You see,
What the next four senses cannot see.

Eye,
you float over smooth pages, engrained with black inks, and you untangle words wrapped in long sentences.
You seize the beauty of waves — rolling, crashing and breaking, rivers running outward in all directions, tall palm trees swaying — bowing to the breeze, geographies.

Eye,
at night,
your small closing window opens up from the opposite end, like a passageway, to the realm of dreams. and I see myself falling deep—
in an endless pit, of the unknown.