

4-2-2015

Selecting My Senior Star Book!

Abby M. Rolland
Gettysburg College

Follow this and additional works at: <https://cupola.gettysburg.edu/libinternblog>

 Part of the Archival Science Commons

Share feedback about the accessibility of this item.

---

Rolland, Abby M., "Selecting My Senior Star Book!" (2015). Blogging the Library. 33.
<https://cupola.gettysburg.edu/libinternblog/33>

This open access blog post is brought to you by The Cupola: Scholarship at Gettysburg College. It has been accepted for inclusion by an authorized administrator of The Cupola. For more information, please contact cupola@gettysburg.edu.

---

Selecting My Senior Star Book!

Abstract

In the past two weeks, I've been working on the Whiting journal and re-housing the PR collection slides. I'm editing Kate Whiting's travel journal, which is coming along nicely! I would've loved to meet her and talked to her about her adventures, including but not limited to why she and her family picked the boat and places they did and if they ever took any other trips. I've re-housed a lot of PR slides and they look way better in the new covers. The old covers get sticky and start to smell funky when they get old. I'll post some pictures next time of "before" and "after." Today, I saw some slides from the 1950s – fascinating how different things were then! (They were laying the cornerstone for Stine Hall in one image). [excerpt]

Keywords

Musselman Library, Gettysburg College, Fortenbaugh Internship, Special Collections, College Archive, Archives

Disciplines

Archival Science | Library and Information Science

Comments

The Interns at Gettysburg College's Musselman Library captured their internship experiences since the spring of 2011. Over time the blog has featured Fortenbaugh, Smith, and Holley interns. They shared updates on semester long projects, responded to blogging prompts, and documented their individual intern experience.

Creative Commons License

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial 4.0 License

Blogging the Library

The Interns @ Gettysburg College's Musselman Library

Selecting My Senior Star Book!

April 2, 2015

By: Abby Rolland '15

---

---

Eisenhower and his grandson David at the Eisenhower Farm in 1966.

---

In the past two weeks, I've been working on the Whiting journal and re-housing the PR collection slides. I'm editing Kate Whiting's travel journal, which is coming along nicely! I would've loved to meet her and talked to her about her adventures, including but not limited to why she and her family picked the boat and places they did and if they ever took any other trips. I've re-housed a lot of PR slides and they look way better in the new covers. The old covers get sticky and start to smell funky when they get old. I'll post some pictures next time of "before" and "after." Today, I saw some slides from the 1950s - fascinating how different things were then! (They were laying the cornerstone for Stine Hall in one image).

In other news, I was lucky, as a senior, to be asked to pick a book from Musselman Library to have plated in my room. Naturally, I picked a book relating to history - Dwight Eisenhower's second memoir Waging Peace. After my experiences with Eisenhower in my senior seminar, the Garthwait Leadership Institute, a program in the Eisenhower Institute, studying the Little Rock crisis for a class project, visiting his farm for fun and for a class, and various lectures/speeches on or involving him, I thought it appropriate to leave my name in the book of someone whose legacy has shaped my time at Gettysburg. The funny thing is, after I made the decision, Amy and I were looking at the 1950s slides and we saw some of Eisenhower campaigning in Gettysburg in 1952! What a coincidence. I have to say, after four years, I have grown attached to him.

I look forward in the next month to completing the finding aid for the journal and re-housing all (or as many as I can) slides!

<http://blogging.musselmanlibrary.org/2015/04/>