MS-132: Norman O. Forness Papers

Description

For the most part, the collection represents Forness' interest in architecture and architectural history as well as teaching. Included is his research and writing on John Dempwolf, (a German architect from York, Pennsylvania who designed Glatfelter Hall, Brua Hall, and McKnight Hall) as well as other Pennsylvania architects and architecture in America. The collection also contains his files during the time he served on the Historical Architecture Review Board for the Borough of Gettysburg, 1988 through 2008. Also included are Forness' course materials, lecture notes, examinations and grade book for his history courses at Gettysburg College.

Special Collections and College Archives Finding Aids are discovery tools used to describe and provide access to our holdings. Finding aids include historical and biographical information about each collection in addition to inventories of their content. More information about our collections can be found on our website

Provenance: Gift of Pacific Lutheran College, 2009

Biography:

Norman Forness (1936-2009) graduated from Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Washington, in 1958 with a B.A. in history. He earned an M.A. in history from Washington State University in 1960 and a Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State University in 1964, where he specialized in social and cultural history during the period between 1789 and 1860. Prof. Forness came to Gettysburg College in 1964 for a two year position in the Department of History, served as Assistant Dean of the College until 1968, returned to the Department of History. He served as Acting Chair of that department as well as the advisor for the history honorary society, Phi Alpha Theta. He also served on many College committees including the Schmucker Anniversary Committee. Prof. Forness retired in 2000.

Scope and Content Notes:

For the most part, the collection represents Forness' interest in architecture and architectural history as well as teaching. Included is his research and writing on John Dempwolf, (a German architect from York, Pennsylvania who designed Glatfelter Hall, Brua Hall, and McKnight Hall) as well as other Pennsylvania architects and architecture in America. The collection also contains his files during the time he served on the Historical Architecture Review Board for the Borough of Gettysburg, 1988 through 2008. Also included are Forness' course materials, lecture notes, examinations and grade book for his history courses at Gettysburg College.

Series Description:

Series I: Research contains Forness' notes, images and articles concerning architecture in south Central Pennsylvania in general and John A. Dempwolf, York, PA, in particular; Gettysburg College's Franklin Professorship; and Samuel Simon Schmucker.

Series II: Historic Architecture Review Board consists of correspondence, meeting minutes, research, and resource publications for the Board during the years in which Forness served on the Board as a member, 1988-2005.

Series III: Schmucker Anniversary Committee includes correspondence and meeting minutes leading up to the celebration of the bicentennial and continues through the publication and distribution of The Papers of the Schmucker Bicentennial, from 1996 through 2001.

Series IV: Gettysburg College contains correspondence, CIC architecture survey, and Forness' lecture notes, course materials, examinations, and grade books for the courses he taught from 1964 through 2000.

Series V: Personal Papers include correspondence, sabbatical proposals, his high school yearbooks, and obituaries of friends and colleagues.

Series VI, VII, consist of photographs and slides taken by Forness and others from the 1960s through his retirement in 2000. Subjects include Europe, campus, the house on East Stevens Street, and architecture slides taken on his trips and used in his architecture courses.

Series VIII: Postal Cards are of Europe, United States, and holiday greeting cards (most of which are addressed to Forness' parents Olaf and/or Mable Hall Forness).
